3. PUBLIC COMMENT

No public comments were offered.

4. CHAIRMAN'S REMARKS - VICE CHAIR DESART

Vice Chair DeSart stated that in the absence of Chair Krajewski she will be filling in.

Vice Chair DeSart shared that not enough appropriate bids for shelter renovation services were received to award contracts. Thus, contracts are going back out for bid with a new bid opening date of July 1st. RWE will work closely with DuPage County Procurement to ensure the bids get as much interest as possible. The groundbreaking ceremony for the new shelter is now scheduled to take place sometime in July. In the meantime, Facilities is working with the City of Wheaton to secure permits, moving fiber optic lines, and moving forward with retention plans for the project.

8. SHELTER RENOVATION UPDATE

Laura shared exterior and interior renderings of the current new shelter design. Feedback on the design, including from the City of Wheaton, has been very positive. Laura thanked the Facilities team, especially Tim and Geoff, for working closely with Animal Services staff to ensure we have what we need to continue serving the community for years to come.

The exterior is designed to be warm and inviting with a berm that will continue to provide a tasteful barrier between the shelter and its resident neighbors. The main lobby is designed to be spacious and open. The lobby will also feature photos of DCAS animals selected by staff and volunteers. A separate entrance has been designated for intakes. The building design features ample natural lighting for people and animals. Care is currently being taken to select finishes that will hold up to the wear and tear of housing animals and daily cleaning/sanitizing.

Cats represent the largest animal population served at DCAS. The new shelter will feature larger cat spaces with large enclosures, walls of windows with a butterfly garden outside, a dedicated cat adoption counseling room, and a cat gym.

DCAS is currently caring for 14 rabbits and 13 guinea pigs housed in every nook and cranny. Small animals will finally have their own dedicated space in the new shelter. Dr. Brown was consulted to ensure appropriate design/layout for small animals and rabbits.

DCAS is experiencing a growing number of large intake cases involving dogs, cats, farm animals and small animals. So far this year DCAS has seen single intakes of 28 roosters, 15 large breed dogs and a sheep, 45 cats, and staff are currently working on more cases involving owners with large numbers of animals. The key to the new shelter design is adaptable spaces. As animal populations rapidly change and public programs and services evolve, our shelter must also have the ability to adapt quickly.

Member Cahill inquired about the use of solar panels in the new design. Tim explained that Facilities does have pricing, but whether solar panels are installed will depend on when the existing building's roof, which is close to but not past its life expectancy, is replaced.

Facilities will email design renderings to committee members and share samples of exterior finishes when they become available.

Laura explained that while the number of cages in the new shelter will not differ greatly from the current shelter, what will be different is the size and the quality of the space. Capacity for care is always balanced with quality of care. For example, while there are currently 80 dog runs at DCAS, capacity for housing dogs is much less than that because your average dog requires both a living/sleeping space and a potty space. This makes it necessary to dedicate 2 runs per dog when housing for any length of time. The new shelter has been designed to meet the physical and emotional needs of the animals housed there. Hence there is less focus on quantity of cages and more focus on features that enhance quality of care such as: species separation, access to natural light, exercise/enrichment areas, size of spaces, foot traffic control, etc.

Animals that demonstrate kennel stress often decline rapidly. They often self-harm, become increasingly difficult for staff & volunteers to exercise and socialize, and are sometimes too anxious to "interview" well with potential adopters. All are factors that further delay adoption, extend their time in the shelter, and increase shelter stress. By maintaining a focus on quality of care, the new shelter design aims to provide an environment that hopefully prevents, and at minimum delays, the onset of kennel stress. Additionally, the design provides spaces that allow staff to work more closely with members of the community to provide education and identify services that will help keep pets in their homes and out of the shelter.

Member Garcia applauded the inclusion of separate spaces for medical treatment and recovery in the new shelter design, something that the existing building does not allow for. She also inquired after the slow-down in adoption rates. Laura shared that she has taken part in conversations on this topic as part of the Chicagoland Humane Coalition. Theories include the poor economy, the increased cost of owning a pet and the number of pets adopted during the pandemic tying up homes. DCAS has taken in more than 500 owner surrendered pets since January 1st, more than the number of strays during the same time.

Member DeSart asked how construction will impact operations. Construction is expected to last 18-20 months. The first phase of construction will have a limited impact on operations. The second phase will affect medical and dog holding spaces which will have a significant impact on animal intake and veterinary care. Tim reminded the committee that Animal Services successfully navigated a relocation during construction in 2015 while improvements were made to the kennel areas.

9. ADMINISTRATIVE UPDATE

Laura wanted to discuss humane euthanasia as it is a subject that has recently been mentioned publicly as Animal Services asks for the community's help in preventing euthanasia in the face of critical animal populations. Most euthanasia is limited to health and/or behavior. However, very recently staff have been faced with the risk of having to make euthanasia decisions based on a lack of space. Staff have and continue to follow our policy of maintaining transparency when faced with these challenges, even though it does often result in our agency and staff facing backlash.

The live release rate for DCAS has been 89% for the last two years. To be considered "no-kill" an organization must have a live release rate of 90% or better. We have had many conversations about what it means for DCAS if/when we reach the 90% goal. Our goal is not to be labeled as no-kill. Rather, because the language around no-kill can be misleading, it is our priority to do right by every individual animal that walks through our door - whether it negatively impacts our live release rate or not.

The conversation should instead center around open admission versus limited admission shelters. DCAS is an open admission shelter which means we intake animals regardless of health, behavior, species, age, or where they come from. Limited admission or limited intake facilities have the ability to turn away animals that are not easily adoptable, have medical or behavioral issues, or when their cages and foster homes are full. Maintaining a no-kill label is much easier when you can pick and choose the animals you allow into your facility, and when you can say "no" when your shelter is full. DCAS does not have that luxury. Even if our shelter experiences a space crisis, we still have a commitment to our municipal partners to take their strays. However, we also will not euthanize adoptable animals without first giving the community the opportunity to step up and do their part in saving animals' lives.

And we keep this commitment to our community and its animals with limited resources. Fees should be a barrier to a pet owner doing the right thing for their animal, thus intake fees are kept low.

8. ADMINISTRATIVE UPDATE

Last week Animal Services along with Best Friends Animal Society hosted 37 officers from 21 different police departments for the first ever all-day Field Services workshop. Topics included: ways to increase return-to-owner in the field, ways to handle wildlife calls, resolving community conflict with outdoor cats, etc. Representatives from each department left with a field service supply kit containing a microchip scanner, slip leads, a top-open pet carrier, treats, etc. Staff received very positive feedback and officers indicated they would like to see more similar training opportunities offered. Strengthening partnerships with other community organizations is important to DCAS because we cannot do this work alone. Many times the officers in the field are the first ones to receive and respond to animal-related calls and concerns.

April 20th marks the official kick-off of the 2023 Specialty Veterinary Vehicle season and Trap-Neuter-Return surgeries for Feral Fixers cats.

The calendar is also filling up with community outreach events where the vehicle will be featured. Laura requested that if any committee member has a request for Animal Services to participate in any community event with or without the vehicle this summer or fall, to please let her know as soon as possible as the calendar is filling up fast. Member Rutledge suggested Danada Fall Festival. Laura indicated that DCAS participated on both days in 2022 but based on feedback would likely only participate for one day this year as all-day events can be hard on shelter animals.

[Member DeSart arrived at 7:40 AM.]

The Chicagoland Humane Coalition (area shelters/rescues that pool resources and identify areas where our shelters can work together to reduce euthanasia rates and help keep pets with owners) is re-launching their Chicago Dog Campaign. Last year's campaign was primarily a communications campaign aimed at increasing interest in and dispelling myths surrounding bully breed and pitbull-type dogs which are filling Chicagoland shelters and foster homes. DCAS is no exception. Laura reminded the committee that DCAS has a program where vouchers for free spay/neuter are given to owners of pitbull-type dogs.

This year, as part of the Chicago Dog Campaign re-launch, a new coordinated return-to-home effort will kick off to increase the re-homing of these at-risk and often misunderstood dogs. The goal of this effort is to get these animals out of shelters and back into homes faster. Participating shelters include: DCAS, Chicago Animal Care & Control, Hinsdale Humane, Anti-Cruelty Society, South Suburban Humane Society, Evanston Humane Society, among others. Coalition groups represent a wide geographic area. These shelters will be joining forces with 24Pet Health to launch their new Pet Connect lost & found platform in the Chicagoland area. As part of this initiative, partners will hold a 24-hour microchip event on Saturday, June 24th with each shelter choosing a time frame to host the event at their shelter.

The ability to collaborate with other shelters in the Chicagoland area has been very valuable as the coalition continues to come up with innovative ways to save more animal lives and keep families together.

June 6th is the new date for the shelter groundbreaking ceremony. Kristie will send a calendar invitation to the committee. A presentation will be made at the April committee meeting to provide everyone with an update on building construction.

The date of the Volunteer Appreciation Reception is now Saturday, April 15th and will be held at the West Chicago Park District. All committee members are welcome to attend.

Overview
DESCRIPTION Identify scope of work, item(s) being purchased, total cost and type of procurement (i.e., lowest bid, RFP, renewal, sole source, etc.). Purchase order for the purchase of canine and feline pet food for Animal Services shelter animals. Hill's Pet Nutrition offers an extensive variety of pet food including a robust selection of prescription diet for dogs and cats. Pricing was obtained from three of the most popular shelter pet food manufacturers offering both standard and veterinary pet food including Hill's Pet Nutrition, Purina, and Royal Canin. In a side-by-side comparison, Hill's Pet Nutrition was the lowest price at $23,272.57, compared to Purina at $31,972.78, and Royal Canin at $45,403.98 for an estimated one year supply based on actual 2022 usage. This purchase agreement is for one year. JUSTIFICATION Summarize why this procurement is necessary and what objectives will be accomplished Animal Services will purchase direct from the manufacturer under the Hill's Food, Shelter & Love® Program as opposed to going through a distributor. The Hill's Shelter Program allows Animal Services to feed the recommended diet for shelter canines and felines entrusted in our care, making possible the highest level of care for shelter animals. Animal Services requires a company that offers veterinary prescription diets in order to care for the many animals coming into the shelter with chronic conditions or who present acutely with a condition, something that is becoming increasingly common. Hill's Prescription Diet brand addresses all medical conditions along with acute illnesses. Hill's Shelter Program sells food to government and non-profit animal shelters at deep discounts. Hill's also provides sample bags of puppy, kitten, adult dog and cat food for new adopters at no cost, allowing for an easy transition from shelter to home for both the pet and the adopter. Because Prescription Diet is made widely available for purchase from many veterinary hospitals and specialty pet food retailers, it is also easy for pet owners to continue feeding Prescription Diet once the animal leaves the shelter.

*Remember that list prices do not reflect your final Food, Shelter & Love program cost. Please refer to Appendix B of your shelter contract for your additional discounts off the list price of these products.

Although this is the first price increase on shelter feeding bags in two years, we understand that any price increase, even on deeply discounted food, can present a challenge for shelters.

We would also like to share that beginning in April, Hill's puppy and kitten formulas will include our proprietary activbiome plus technology to support the developing microbiomes of these pets at a key time in their lives. These products support five essential building blocks for lifelong health, so you can rest assured that the pets in your care are getting complete and balanced nutrition, all backed by science.

The NEW puppy and kitten formulas should start to arrive in April, with no change to the bag sizes or the SKU numbers listed above.

If you have any questions on these commercial changes, please contact the Shelter Helpline via email at Shelters@HillsPet.com or via phone at 1-866-283-1217.
